

Ossington Pentecostal Church

Dear Pastor/Administrator;

It was the end of October 2009 and our church website was in need of updating. But not just an update, it needed a complete overhaul. We wanted a site that would be easy to operate and maintain while at the same time give us a presence on the internet with all the modern means of connecting, communicating, and networking with people and not break the budget.

Being a relatively small church of about one hundred people in the heart of Toronto we had limited resources and personnel available but we knew that having a quality web presence was important. That is why our meeting with Celect's sales representative Thomas Taylor was like an answer to our prayers.

Thomas demonstrated for us the various features available through their user friendly interface and it was like an immediate match with our needs. It was modern and up to date with the ability to network well, deliver multimedia via the web, and provide a web portal whereby church members could keep informed and up to date on schedules and activities. It was extremely intuitive making it very easy to develop and train individuals for the purposes of updating various web pages, and it was affordable.

Celect's highly skilled team helped us to develop a time line for implementation; they worked in harmony with our people assisting in every step of our sites development, right down to the smallest of details. They showed an understanding of support and working together. They stuck with us patiently and provided the help and support needed to insure a successful implementation that was second to none, but more importantly they have continued to demonstrate this kind of support and assistance since we have gone online with them.

They offer a system that provides the opportunity to have cutting edge technology working for you, without requiring you have technological gurus on your staff, and they do it at price that even a small church can find affordable.

While Celect's team provide you with access to the most up to date web technology, they go "the extra mile" to make your presence on the web one that will attract and help keep your visitors coming back again and again.

I want to strongly encourage you to meet with Celect's representative Mr. Thomas Taylor and allow him to show to you what Celect can offer to you and your organization. I am convinced that they provide the highest quality product and service while maintaining affordability and after you meet with them I believe you will be too.

Please feel free to contact me should you wish to discuss further any aspect of our experience in the setup and implementation process, or the ongoing services we are enjoying with Celect and their team.

Yours Sincerely,

Rev. David Quackenbush
