Dear Pastor:

In the last few months, my office staff and I have been struggling as how to revitalize our website. There was a struggle to learn the technology as well as implement it. I also began to develop a conviction that for our church to move forward in relationships with our community and neighbourhood we needed to simply let them know more in the way of social media that we exist!

Then Thomas Taylor of Celect.org came and showed us how his organization could help us revitalize our website. He showed us how if we signed on, his support team could redevelop our website and give us constant guidance. The prices quoted were extremely reasonable. Finally after a month of discussions with Thomas and his team, we signed up a week ago.

We now look forward to revitalizing our website with Celect.org.

If you are thinking of revitalizing your website or starting a new one, try asking Thomas to show you what Celect.org has to offer. Ask all the difficult questions. They will be there to answer them.

Yours sincerely

Pye Chew, pastor
